PROCEDURAL FACTORS

The Panel is satisfied that all procedural requirements under UDRP were met and there is no other reason why it would be inappropriate to provide a decision.

PRINCIPAL REASONS FOR THE DECISION

The Complainant showed genuine trademark rights on the COURIR element, as a result of robust commercial usage in the EU as well as other territories covered by active trademark registration, and the intense use on the Internet since decades. The disputed domain name comprehends Complainant's trademarks with the addition of the French word "magasin". The Panel finds that the disputed domain name is therefore confusingly similar to Complainant's trademark COURIR. The generic word "magasin" and TLD .store do not add any distinctiveness to the disputed domain name.

Respondent is not affiliated with nor authorized by the Complainant in any way. The Complainant contends that the Respondent has no rights or legitimate interests in respect of the disputed domain name. The Complainant does not carry out any activity for, nor has any business with the Respondent. The disputed domain name is used for a website template partially filled and displaying clothing, shoes and articles along with the Complainant's trademark. Neither license nor authorization has been granted to the Respondent to make any use of the Complainant's trademark COURIR, or apply for registration of the disputed domain name by the Complainant.

In addition, Complainant has been successful in a number of earlier CAC domain disputes, as CAC-UDRP-102698 for the disputed domain <courirfrance.com>, where the Panel held that "The Complainant's trademark is recognizable in the disputed domain name as the first and most dominant element thereof, and the additional geographic term does not distinguish the disputed domain name from such mark...".

As a result, the Panel is persuaded that the disputed domain name has been used and registered in bad faith, so to intentionally attempt to attract for commercial gain Internet users to its website by creating likelihood of confusion with the Complainant's trademark as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation, or endorsement of the web site under paragraph 4(b)(iv) of the Policy.
